Dear Weisberg clan,

Life goes on, I guess that a third of the way thru my fifth decade, I have finally started to mellow. Acceptance is a wonderful gift, probably more aquired, than given or received. As each day passes I actually gain and learn from experiences that as a younger man, I would have never seen the value in. Good Lord, if I am this deep and profound at forty-three, I will probably be absolutely unbearable to be around when I am eighty three!

There is a silent strength within each soul, and that strength is multiplied for those who remember that they do not walk their path alone.

Thinking of You

You are in my thoughts and prayers!

May the wolves keep from your door!
